Philadelphia, May 3.-Captain Harry Imlay slowed something of his best form against Princeton on Franklin Field beafternoon, and by his masterly pitching, fore than all else, Pennsylvania trito 0. Only two hits were made off Imlay and he fanned eleven batsmen. Though at times his support wabbled a bit and the Tigers were speed boys on the bases, every time that danger threatened.

Copeland pitched a good game for the innings in everything but effectiveness. In the seventh, however, the Quakers broke through his defence and settled victory. Toomey opened the inning with a single to left Glendenning's attempt at sacrificing resulted in a strike Peden grounded weakly to Copeland, but Rhodes dropped the throw. This seemed to affect Copeland, who made a palpable balk and the two base runners moved up. With men on second and third and ene out, the yells from the 10,000 straw-hatted throng could be heard a mile, and it single to centre and Toomey and Peden raced over the plate. That settled the

The early innings were fraught with all kinds of excitement. Princeton was threatening in the first and when Laird opened the sixth with a double it looked had for the Quakers, but the succeeding of the infield, and fast fielding nailed Laird at third in an attempt to go up on an out. Pennsylvania got two men on in the third, but Coleman was unequal to the task of bringing any runs in, and in the fifth the Quakers had another promising inning, but Copeland was beyond the ken of the Pennsylvania batsmen. The Tigers started a rally in the ninth when Falls on Rhode Island State for they got two men on through an error
